

AJR International, Inc

Quality Service Continually Improved

AJR International provides a closed-loop support model where our OEM customers gain the greatest return for their investment. Repair and logistics functions are integrated to optimize the model most efficiently. With integration, the need for transactions and the associated costs between a traditional logistics provider and a traditional repair services provider is eliminated and economies to scale become evident.

We play a crucial role in helping our customers manage their spare parts pipeline. From retail channel returns management to processing single warranty exchanges, AJR provides an efficient environment to handle all aspects of Returns Management.
